Preparing Students for Computing and HPC

J. Bradford Burkman
Louisiana School for Math, Science, and the Arts

Because of recent changes in Louisiana high school graduation requirements, undergraduates will be coming to college with even poorer computing skills. This presentation details several ways the Louisiana School for Match, Science, and the Arts is trying to expose all students to computing and give some students deep experience with HPC.